Church Websites 101: How to build an affordable and effective church website

Facilitator: Josh Wierenga, owner and lead catalyst for Clearpath Church Communications.

Our church website workshop will comprise two sections: the strategy behind building a church website and practical steps on how to actually do it. During the strategic portion of our time we will learn about all the major components necessary for building and maintaining a quality church website such as focused copy writing, quality photography, and high traffic strategic pages. Next, we'll actually walk through the process of building a website step-by-step, to give you a basic understanding of what's involved.

Josh Wierenga, is an ordained specialized minister in the Reformed Church in America and works with over a dozen churches every year in church communications consulting, design and development. Josh lives in San Luis Obispo with his wife Rayna and two girls, Norah and Elise.
